Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

LONDON, June 9.

To the EDITOR of the LONDON CHRONICLE.

SIR,

IN the preſent political conteſts, I do not pretend to determine which party is right, or which is wrong; whether the late peace made with France and Spain is a good one for Great Britain, as the abettors of the miniſtry aſſert; or whether it is a bad one as aſſerted by their antagoniſts; whether the Cyder Bill is a juſt and equitable law, or iniquitous and oppreſſive. Poſterity will hear and determine theſe queſtions with greater impartiality, than we can do amidſt ſo much animoſity and miſrepreſentation, occaſioned by party cabals, and private intereſt, under the maſk of public good. There is, however, a meaſure purſued by ſome of the oppoſers of the late Miniſter, which I am ſure all unprejudiced Engliſhmen, capable of thinking for themſelves, muſt condemn and abhor; and that is the pains taken by the writers to revive and inflame the old jealouſies and animoſities betwixt England and Scotland, which the Union had happily aboliſhed. Can theſe people mean well to the internal peace, proſperity and ſecurity of England, by doing all in their power to ſet the two nations at variance? No: They mean only to gratify their private reſentments againſt the late Miniſter, by endeavouring to vilify his country and countrymen, regardleſs of the conſequences to the public happineſs. Is this patriotiſm? Is this ſhowing themſelves the faſt friends of old England, and of the preſent Royal Family? If they think he has neglected or betrayed the intereſts of Britain, or been guilty of other faults, let their pens and their tongues be employed to point out his guilt, and to revile his perſon and private character, if they be ſo minded; but to employ the moſt deſpicable tools to carry firebrands through the united kingdom, and to ſupport one of theſe tools in his inſolent and criminal attempt to thruſt the firebrand even into the face of his Sovereign, muſt demonſtrate that their hearts are actuated by the vileſt paſſions, in ſpite of their pretences to patriotiſm, or other public virtues. It is true, the low ſcurrilities and invectives of theſe wretched ſcribblers can have no effect, but with the moſt thoughtleſs and loweſt rank of people. But if the rabble of both nations ſhould thereby be inflamed, who can anſwer for the conſequences?

I perſuade myſelf that many of theſe noble perſons, who have joined in oppoſing the late and preſent adminiſtration, are far from approving or encouraging ſuch baſe and unjuſtifiable meaſures, which can proceed only from hearts ſtung with envy and malice, the attendants of diſappointed ambition in weak minds. A late elegant author, and true Engliſh patriot, has ſhewn the real intereſt of both nations in the cleareſt light, in one of his excellent Dialogues; a few paragraphs of which I ſhall here tranſcribe, for the benefit of theſe well-meaning people, who are apt to be miſled by clamour and prejudice.

"Whenever I read an account of the wars betwixt the Engliſh and the Scotch, I think I am reading a melancholy hiſtory of civil diſſenſions; which ever ſide is defeated, their loſs appears to me a loſs to the whole, and an advantage to ſome foreign enemy of Great Britain. But the ſtrength of the iſland is made by the Union complete, and ſuperior to all other powers. What the great poet Shakeſpeare has ſaid in one inſtance, is now true in all,

The Hotſpur and the Douglas both together,
Are confident againſt the world in arms.

"Who can reſiſt the Engliſh and Scotch valour combined? When ſeparate and oppoſed, they ballanced each other; united they hold the ballance of Europe. If all the Scotch Blood that has been ſhed for the French in wars againſt England, had been poured out to oppoſe their ambition; if all the Engliſh blood that has been ſpilt in wars againſt Scotland, had been preſerved, France would long ago have been rendered incapable of diſturbing our peace, and Great Britain would have been the firſt nation in Europe. The martial ſpirit of the Scotch, their hardy bodies, their acute and vigorous minds, their induſtry, their activity, are now employed to the benefit of the whole iſland. He is now a bad Scotchman who is not a good Engliſhman; and he is a bad Engliſhman who is not a good Scotchman. Mutual intercourſe, mutual intereſts, mutual benefits, muſt be productive of mutual affection. Nature has joined the two countries, has fenced them both with the ſea, againſt the invaſion of all other nations; but has laid them quite open the one to the other. Accurſed be he who tries to divide them!"

Dublin, June 3. Friday a poſt aſſembly was held at the Mayoralty-houſe in Dawſon-ſtreet (the Lord Mayor being indiſpoſed, and not able to come to the Tholſel) when an addreſs was drawn up to be tranſmitted to his Majeſty, on the late general peace.

Cork, May 30. Wedneſday laſt the trial of the Levellers ended at Clonmell, when John Fogerty, alias Capt. Fearnot, was capitally convicted, and ordered to be executed at Clonmell on the 11th of June next.

Norfolk, Eaſt-Dereham, June 7, 1763. His Majeſty's birthday was celebrated at this place, with all the loyalty and affection due to ſo good and amiable a Monarch.

The weſtern battalion of Norfolk militia, commanded by the Right Hon. General Townſhend, one of our worthy repreſentatives for this county, was drawn up; and although diſembodied for near ſix months, went through their ſeveral exerciſes, to the greateſt ſatisfaction of ſeveral military Gentlemen preſent, and of all real lovers of their King and Country.

At night there was a grand collection of fire-works in the market place; and in the evening the officers entertained a very numerous and polite company of perſons of this neighbourhood with a ball.

There was the greateſt number of perſons preſent ever known; and the higheſt unanimity and emulation appeared in every one to pay the proper reſpects of the day, without the leaſt tumult or diſorder.

Oxford, June 8. Yeſterday elegant lodgings were taken in this city for John Wilkes, Eſq; Member of Parliament for Ayleſbury, who intends to be preſent at our enſuing Encænia in honour of the peace; but it is confidently aſſerted, that no honorary degree will be conferred on that gentleman.

LONDON, June 4.

We hear from Ayleſbury that on Saturday, his Majeſty's birthday, their worthy Repreſentative, JOHN WILKES, Eſq; came to that town. He was met by the moſt conſiderable inhabitants of that and the neighbouring towns, and conducted to his own houſe amidſt the acclamations of an infinite number of people. He afterwards gave a grand entertainment to the gentlemen of the Borough, and all the public houſes were opened for the reception of his friends. The following are ſaid to be the toaſts drank at the White Hart:

The King and Queen.

The Prince of Wales, and the reſt of the Royal Family.

The Royal Hans en Celdre.

The King of Pruſſia.

Prince Ferdinand of Brunſwick.

A capable Adminiſtration.

May Engliſh Spirit triumph over Scottiſh Favouritiſm.

Old England.

Nova Scotia.

June 15. The French King has iſſued an edict, forbidding the practice of inoculation for the ſmall-pox in any part of his dominions.

Letters from Rome of the 21ſt ult. mention, that the College for the Propagation of the Goſpel there, had received advice from China of a miraculous converſion of 70,000 ſouls to the Chriſtian Faith, with the Mandarin of Touchin; and that the moſt reverend Peter Marie, of the Order of St. Dominick, Biſhop of Mancaſton, had loſt his life there by martyrdom.

A Duke who for feaſting has high reputation,
By wilks has near poiſon'd great part of the nation;
To prevent further miſchief, a method is hit on,
'Tis---roaſting your wilks by a flaming---North Briton.

By the Ship MARQUIS of GRANBY, Captain M'ILVAINE, in a ſhort Paſſage from Londonderry, we have the following Advices, viz.

HAMBURGH, June 3.

YESTERDAY arrived here a Sloop from England, which, we hear, has brought a conſiderable Sum of Money, to diſcharge the Arrears owing by England to the King of Pruſſia.

Leghorn, May 28. The Report of an Action in Corſica (though we have long waited for Particulars) appears not to have been without Foundation. General Matra, who was encamped near Alteria, having ſent forward a Detachment of 800 Men, General Paoli, in order to cut off their Retreat, made likewiſe a Detachment, which came up with the Genoeſe at the Village of Zuani, about eight Miles from Alteria; where Capt. Saliceti, with only 100 Corſicans, attacked and routed the 800 Genoeſe, of whom 55 were killed on the Spot, and about as many wounded. The dead Bodies of ſuch as were known to be Corſicans, were burnt, as Rebels to their Country. Of General Paoli's Troops there were but three killed, and ſix wounded.

Hamburgh, June 14. We are greatly ſurpriſed here to find the Courts of Vienna and Berlin ſo cool in eſtabliſhing that good Underſtanding, which has been agreed to between them. At leaſt it does not appear that the Miniſters on either Side are in any Hurry to ſet out. The ſame Indifference prevails between the Courts of Berlin and Dreſden, as alſo with the Court of Stockholm.

Wetzlar, June 1. The 28th of laſt Month, at two in Morning, we were greatly alarmed by the ſudden Arrival of two Bodies of Troops, one coming from Darmſtadt, the other from Gieſſen, conſiſting in 2 Regiments of Infantry, 4 Battalions of Militia, and 500 Horſe and Huſſars, together with a Train of 30 Pieces of Cannon. Theſe Troops were no ſooner arrived before the Town, than they forced open the Gates, took Poſſeſſion of all the principal Streets, and broke open the Houſes of the Burgher Maſters, and of the 16 Senators, who were obliged to appear before a Deputation ſent by his Serene Highneſs the Margrave of Heſſe Darmſtadt. Several Houſes have actually from 70 to 80 Soldiers quartered on them, and no Body has Leave to go out of the Town, except the Poſt: Even the Members of the Imperial Chamber have not this Liberty.

The Margrave's Pretext for treating this Town in the above Manner is, that the Magiſtrates refuſed to give the Satisfaction which his Serene Highneſs required, relating to ſome Quarrels that aroſe ſoon after the Concluſion of the Peace, between his Troops, and a Detachment of thoſe of the Allied Army, eſcorted by the Soldiers of this City, in which the former were repulſed. Several Burghers are accuſed of having aſſiſted the Allies; and his Serene Highneſs alledges, that the Magiſtrates, and ſeveral of the Senators, abuſed his Officers.

This Morning the Imperial Chamber was aſſembled; but it is not known yet what Reſolution they have taken.

Naples, June 1. Amongſt the Priſoners made by the Corſicans in the late Action, is the Nephew of the famous Gaſſieri, who ſold and gave up to the Genoeſe the Tower of Paludella; and amongſt the Wounded is Anthony Matra, Couſin of the General, who was beſieged by the Corſicans in the Convent of Zuani; but we know not whether he is dead of his Wounds, made Priſoner, or has ſaved himſelf by Flight. The Corſicans, who on this Occaſion become poſſeſſed of the Territories of Zuani, Tallone and Ampriani, have ſung Te Deum in all their Churches, and made great public Rejoicings. They have ſince re-taken the Tower of Sagona, and made the Garriſon Priſoners of War.

Glouceſter, June 20. Laſt Tueſday one Aldridge, a Fiſherman, at Arlingham, in this County, was choaked by a ſmall Fiſh, which accidentally ſlipped into his Throat, as he was going to bite its Head off, in order to kill it. He has left a Widow, and 5 ſmall Children.

LONDON, June 18.

Letters from Franckfort of the 3d inſt. adviſe, that the Execution Troops of Heſſe-Darmſtadt had evacuated Wetzlar, but had carried away with them to Gieſſen, the Burgomaſter, and 16 Aldermen of that City; and the Imperial Chamber of Juſtice there has ſent a Detail of the whole Affair to the Emperor, whoſe Reſult is waited for with Impatience.

It is ſaid Orders will ſpeedily be iſſued by the Miniſtry to the Board of Ordnance, to provide a Number of Engineers, and other Perſons, properly qualified, in order to ſet out for America, to make accurate Surveys of all our Colonies, from the River St. Lawrence to the Gulph of Mexico, and from the Sea to the Miſſiſippi; and likewiſe of all our Weſt India Iſlands; and to draw Plans and Views of all the Towns, Forts, Rivers, Lakes, Creeks, Mountains, Woods, &c. and to procure an ample Deſcription of the Inhabitants, their Manners, Cuſtoms, and Genius; the Climates, with the Nature and Quality of the Soils of the different Provinces; the Animals peculiar to them; what Rivers they are watered by, whether navigable, and what Species of Fiſh they are ſtored with; whether the Lands are proper for Grain or Paſture, for Sugar, Rice, Tobacco, Cotton, or Indigo; if there are any Mines of Gold, Silver, Copper, Iron, Lead, or Coal, and if their Produce will exceed the Expence of working them; if the Foreſts are proper for building of Ships or Habitations, or adapted to the making of Houſhold Furniture, or other Utenſils; with a particular Account of the Square Miles, and Number of Souls in each Diſtrict.---It is thought they will ſet out the enſuing Summer, and Orders will be at the ſame Time ſent to our Governors, to give them all Manner of Aſſiſtance, and furniſh them with Guides and Interpreters.---This is a noble Plan, and the moſt effectual Way of improving to the utmoſt, not only our new Conqueſts, but our ancient Poſſeſſions; and, ſpite of all the Efforts of Faction, muſt immortalize the Adminiſtration of a Nobleman, whoſe only Ambition is to make Britain flouriſh, and her Subjects happy.

June 21. Saturday laſt the King rode out in Hyde Park, and meeting the Prince of Wales, His Majeſty took him out of the Coach, and placed him before him.

On Saturday laſt 5000 Ounces of Gold, and 100,000 Ounces of Silver Coins, were entered for Calais, being the greateſt Entry we can remember.

We have Advice from Liſbon, that the King of Portugal has reſolved to eſtabliſh his Naval Force on a better Foundation than hitherto, by having a ſmall Squadron of Men of War to act on all Occaſions.

By a Ship which is arrived at Hamburgh, that brought home 216 Quarters of Blubber from Greenland, there is an Account that the Whale Fiſhery had turned out pretty well this Seaſon.

June 25. By a letter from the Cape of Good Hope, dated the 1ſt of February laſt, there is an account that ſome few days before, a French man of war arrived there, who brought advice, that the Walpole Indiaman, Captain Fenner, bound to Bengal, had been taken off the heights of Zealoan, by 2 French Ships; and that part of her cargo, particularly Broad Cloath, was ſelling there very cheap.

A Genoeſe Ship, richly laden, is taken in Sight of Leghorn, by a Barbary Pirate, and the Crew, together with 25 Paſſengers, both Men and Women, made Slaves.

They write from Magdeburgh, that the King of Pruſſia has ordered a Reduction in the Prices of all Eatables and Drinkables; and that all Monopolizers of any Proviſions whatever, ſhould be puniſhed with the utmoſt Rigour of the Law.

The Call for Woollen Goods for Spain is now as great as ever has been. The Baize-makers have ſo many Orders, that they cannot comply with them before September, or longer.

July 1. The Actions commenced by the Journeymen Printers, are in their own Names, for falſe Impriſonment, when they were taken up on Suſpicion of printing the North Briton, No. 45.

We are deſired to aſſure the Public that Mr. Wilkes is proceeding againſt the Secretaries of State, and the Meſſengers, with the utmoſt Spirit and Vigour, and with all the Diſpatch which the known Delay of the Law admits.

The Chevalier Carrion, Secretary to the Spaniſh Embaſſy at the Court of France, is coming over to England, to ſettle what is owing for the Maintenance of the Spaniſh Priſoners of War.

The laſt Accounts from Italy mention, that the Republic of Genoa having failed in their Application to the Court of Vienna for a Body of Forces to aſſiſt in recovering Corſica, are now ſoliciting the Duke of Modena to furniſh them with 1000 Foot, and 400 Horſe; that the Duke is not averſe to the Propoſals, but that it is apprehended the Court of Rome will traverſe this Negotiation as they did that at Vienna.

Letters from Holland adviſe, that a Reſolution has been taken by the States General to ſend 2000 Men to endeavour to recover Barbutius from the Negroes; which Troops are to be draughted from the ſeveral Garriſons.

His Majeſty entered Hyde Park Yeſterday Morning exactly ten Minutes before nine, and retired at twelve: He was mounted on a fine dark bay Horſe, who ſtarted at the laſt Firing of the Cannon, and had like to have thrown his Majeſty; one of the Footmen afterwards walked by the Horſe's Side, holding the Reins till his Majeſty got through the Crowd to the Queen's Houſe.

We hear that the Right Hon. the Marqus of Granby gave 100 Guineas to the Company of the Train of Artillery, for their excellent Performance Yeſterday in Hyde Park.

ANNAPOLIS, Auguſt 18.

We have had no very bad News from our Frontiers ſince our laſt; and many, who had deſerted their Plantations, we are informed, are gone back to them again.

BOSTON, Auguſt 18.

Capt. Wier in a Brig from the Weſt-Indies for this Port, was lately caſt away on the Caucas's, the Veſſel and Cargo entirely loſt, but the Men all ſaved.

We hear that a Ship belonging to Portſmouth in New-Hampſhire, was lately caſt-away in the Weſt-Indies, having 600 Hogſheads of white Sugars on board, which with the Veſſel was loſt.

Tueſday laſt the Wife of Mr. Samuel Choate, of Charleſtown, was ſafely delivered of three Children at a Birth, viz. two Boys and a Girl, who are now well, and in good Health; as is alſo Mrs. Choate. They were all chriſtened on Sunday laſt by the Names of Samuel, James, and Suſannah.

Auguſt 22. Thurſday laſt three Indians arrived here in the Province Sloop, Capt. Saunders, from Penobſcot. We hear they are come to treat for a Peace.

[As the Accounts in the New-York Papers, relating to Colonel BOUQUET's Victory over the Indians, are not the ſame, we think it beſt to give our Readers both, which are as follow, viz.]

NEW-YORK, Auguſt 29.

IT is with great Satisfaction we can acquaint the Publick, of the Arrival of Colonel BOUQUET, with the Troops under his Command, at Fort PITT, on the 10th Inſtant, after having totally routed a very conſiderable Body of Indians, who attacked his Little Army on the Fifth and Sixth, near Buſhy-run; The Largeneſs of the Convoy, and Night coming on, prevented the Colonel from purſuing the Savages the firſt Day; And the next Morning the Indians renewed the Attack, with great Fierceneſs; but Col. Bouquet had made ſuch a Diſpoſition for their Reception as ſucceeded to his utmoſt Wiſhes; the Troops, at a proper Time, ruſhing on the Villains, with their fixed Bayonets, and following their Blow with an Intrepidity that at once compleated the Rout, which became general, and our Troops purſued the Savages for a conſiderable Diſtance, wounding many in the Flight: It is imagined that at leaſt Sixty of the Savages were ſlain in the two Encounters; and it is certain that Keekyuſkung, one of the firſt Ringleaders of the Miſchief in thoſe Parts, is among the Dead, his Body being well known: The Wolfe is likewiſe ſuppoſed to be killed, his Rifle having been found; and Butler, another of the Chiefs, was killed at Fort Pitt.

This great and ſeaſonable Defeat, has not been accompliſhed without Loſs on our Side; altho' there never were Troops that behaved with more Coolneſs, Firmneſs, and real Reſolution, it being remarkable, that not a Man diſcovered the leaſt Confuſion. Capt. Lieut. Graham, and Lieut. James M'Intoſh, of the 42d, and Lieut. Randall, of the Rangers, are killed; Capt. John Graham, and Lieut. Duncan Campbell, of the 42d; Lieut. James Dow, of the 60th; Lieut. Donald Campbell, and Voluntier Peebles, of the 77th, are wounded; and we have loſt in the whole Forty-nine Men. Some of the Brutes were ſcalped by the Pack-Horſe Men, and Rangers; but the Regular Troops would not touch the Bodies after they were dead: Their whole Attention was to execute their Duty in purſuing the Runaways, which they did, till it was judged neceſſary to order them to ſtop.

Colonel Bouquet continued his March to Fort Pitt, the Indians firing ſome random Shots, but never daring to face the Troops again: On his Arrival at Fort Pitt, he learnt that the Savages had cloſely beſet that Poſt, from the 27th July to the 1ſt Inſtant, when they marched in a Body to attack him; and thoſe very Villains had, on the 26th July, made a Speech to the Commanding Officer at Fort Pitt, couched in the moſt deceitful and treacherous Terms imaginable, pretending Friendſhip, while, at the ſame Time, it was very evident they meant nothing leſs than to have butchered every Woman and Infant, that had taken Shelter in the Place, with the ſame Pleaſure they would have put the Garriſon to Torture, if they had had an Opportunity of doing it; but the Commanding Officer, with a becoming Spirit, anſwered their Speech accordingly, diſdaining to treat with Villains, who had given ſo many Proofs of their Ingratitude and Diſſimulation."

" Friday laſt, at 2 o' Clock in the Afternoon, Captain Baſſet, an Engineer, arrived here from Pittſburgh, Expreſs to his Excellency Sir Jeffery Amherſt, which Place he left the 13th Inſtant: The Accounts brought by him, we hear, are as follow, viz. That on the 5th Inſtant, in the Evening, the Troops under the Command of Colonel Bouquet, amounting to about 450, were attacked by 400 Indians, within a Mile and an Half of a Place called Buſhy-Run (26 Miles from Pittſburgh) the moſt convenient for an Attack on all that Road; but after a ſmart Fire for ſome Time, Night obliged both Parties to withdraw: That on the Morning of the 6th, by Break of Day, the Engagement was renewed again by the Indians; that they advanced on our People with the greateſt Undauntedneſs, but met with a Reception contrary to their Expectations, and were ſoon convinced they had People to cope with that underſtood Buſh-fighting as well as themſelves: Notwithſtanding which, the Engagement continued till Ten o'Clock, very ſmart and bloody, many being killed and wounded on both Sides, the Indians ſtill continuing to behave with uncommon Bravery; but two Companies of Light Infantry having found Means to ſurround them, they ſoon found themſelves between two Fires, when they immediately gave Way, and fled with the greateſt Precipitation imaginable, leaving killed on the Field of Battle 40 of their beſt Warriors, among which Number was a Sachem, called Keekyuſkung, that had been often well treated at Pittſburgh. Our Men purſued the Savages two Miles, but could take only one Priſoner, and after a little Examination he received his Quietus. Our Army did not ſcalp one of the Indians, not thinking it prudent to delay Time, but proceeded on to the Relief of the Garriſon, where they arrived, with all their wounded Men, and Supplies, the 10th following.

In the two Engagements above-mentioned, we had Captain Lieut. Graham, and Lieut. M'Intoſh, of the Highlanders, with a Lieutenant of the Rangers, killed; and Lieutenant Dow, wounded; beſides 40 Privates killed, and 60 wounded. The Waggoners and ſeveral other People that followed the Army, ſcalped moſt of the Enemy that were left in the Field; and the Indians the Night following the Action returned and ſcalped as many of our People as they could find. The 10th, the Indians croſſed the Ohio, in Sight of Pittſburgh, when they gave 30 Scalp-Yells, to denote the Number of Scalps they had taken.

We are told Lieut. Dow ſhot two Indians before he received his Wound, and broke the Thigh of a Third afterwards.

We are alſo told, the Indian Army was compoſed of 8 different Nations, and as Braddock, and Grant were conquered on that Road, they expected to have ſerved Col. Bouquet in the ſame Manner; but thank God they have been diſappointed, and we hope the Province of Pennſylvania will reap the Sweets thereof, and many be convinced, that Indians are no more invulnerable than other Men, when attacked on equal Terms, and eſpecially by Britiſh Troops.

We hope ſoon to be able to give the Public a better Account of this Affair; as alſo ſome agreeable Advices from the Detachment that is gone to the Relief of Detroit, commanded by Captain Dalzell."

Captain Eaſt, from Africa, for new-London, was ſpoke with 16 Days ago, in Lat. 39, Lon. 64, by Captain Kipp, all well.

We hear from Stanford, that a poor Traveller, having but one Arm, came to that Town on Monday laſt, ſeemingly diſorder'd in his Senſes.---About Midnight he attempted to beat out his Brains with the Chamber-pot, but the Stroke having waked the People, he was prevented from doing himſelf further Miſchief, but next Day, Tueſday, he cut his own Throat with a Razor; and a Surgeon being immediately brought, the Wound was ſew'd up, but his Recovery is doubtful.

We hear that the Bodies of all the People who were unfortunately drowned laſt Week, in croſſing the Ferry to Staten-Iſland, as mention'd in our laſt, have been ſince found.

On Monday laſt the Bodies of Mr. James Anderſon, and N. Chapman, and on Tueſday Mr. Robert Kennedy, were buried at Richmond Church Staten Iſland; alſo on Monday the Bodies of Mr. James Morriſon, and Mr. David Gammel, and on Tueſday Mr. De Loge were buried on Conſtable Point, New Jerſey, and Mrs. Reynolds at Trinity Church in this City; the Negro Boy has alſo been found and buried, and we have juſt heard Mrs. Henderton is alſo found.

Extract of a Letter from Fort Pitt, Auguſt 12.

" The Troops, under Colonel Bouquet, arrived here the Day before Yeſterday. They were briſkly attacked by about 400 Savages for Part of two Days, about 25 Miles from this Place, on a long Ridge, where there was not a Drop of Water to be had; you may judge then the Condition our poor People were in: Notwithſtanding which, and many other Diſadvantages, our Men bravely beat them off, and in the laſt Puſh totally routed the vile Miſcreants; but as you will probably have the Accounts of theſe Engagements from the Gentlemen that were in them, I ſhall ſay no more than this, that it is the general Opinion, the Troops behaved with the utmoſt Intrepidity, and the Indians were never known to behave ſo fiercely----You may be ſure the Sight of the Troops was very agreeable to our poor Garriſon, being penned up in the Fort from the 29th of May to the 9th Inſtant, and the Barrack Rooms crammed with Men, Women and Children, tho' providentially no other Diſorder enſued than the Small-pox.---From the 16th of June to the 28th of July, we were peſtered with the Enemy; ſometimes with their Flags, demanding Conferences; at other Times threatening, then ſoothing, and offering their cordial Advice, for us to evacuate the Place; for that they, the Delawares, tho' our dear Friends and Brothers, could no longer protect us from the Fury of Legions of other Nations, that were coming from the Lakes, &c. to deſtroy us. But, finding that neither had any Effect on us, they muſtered their whole Force, in Number about 400, and began a moſt furious Fire from all Quarters on the Fort, which they continued for four Days, and great Part of the Nights, viz. from the 28th of July to the laſt---Our Commander was wounded by an Arrow in the Leg, and no other Perſon, of any Note, hurt, tho' the Balls were whiſtling very thick about our Ears. Nine Rank and File wounded, and one Hulings having his Leg broke, was the whole of our Loſs during this hot Firing; tho' we have Reaſon to think that we killed ſeveral of our loving Brethren, notwithſtanding their Alertneſs in ſkulking behind the Banks of the Rivers, &c.----Theſe Gentry, ſeeing they could not take the Fort, ſheered off, and we heard no more of them till the Account of the above Engagements came to hand, when we were convinced that our good Brothers did us this ſecond Act of Friendſhip------What they intend next God knows, but am afraid they will diſperſe in ſmall Parties, among the Inhabitants, if not well defended-----We have no late Accounts from Detroit, but hope ſoon to hear of an important Blow being ſtruck by the Troops lately ſent there-----The moſt of the Troops lately come up, are to ſet out this Day for Ligonier, to eſcort Artillery, Stores, &c. from thence here------We expect more Troops from your Parts ſoon----Nothing can be undertaken to annoy the Savages till they come."

" Our little Army, encumbered with a very large Convoy, was furiouſly attacked on the 5th and 6th Inſtant, by the main Body of the Indians, at a Place near Buſhy Run, very advantageouſly choſen by a ſavage Enemy, being ſurrounded on every Side by riſing Grounds, excepting one, and on that by a Moraſs; but, by the Intrepidity and Coolneſs of our Men, they were put to Flight, but not without great Loſs on both Sides-----We formed a Circle round our Convoy and Wounded; upon which the Savages collected themſelves, and continued hooping and popping at us all the Evening-----Next Morning, having muſtered all their Force, they began the War-hoop, attacking us in Front, when the Colonel feigned a Retreat, which encouraged the Indians to an eager Purſuit, while the Light Infantry and Grenadiers ruſhed out on their Right and Left Flanks, attacking them where they little expected it; by which Means a great Number of them were killed; and among the reſt Keekyuſkung, a Delaware Chief, who the Night before, and that Morning, had been Blackguarding us in Engliſh. We loſt one Man in the Rear, on our March the Day after."

In other Letters from Fort Pitt, it is mentioned that, to a Man, they were reſolved to defend the Garriſon (if the Troops had not arrived) as long as any Ammunition, and Proviſion to ſupport them, was left; and that then they would have fought their Way through, or died in the Attempt, rather than have been made Priſoners by ſuch perfidious, cruel, and Blood-thirſty Hell-hounds. ----Some of the Women in the Fort, it is ſaid, helped to defend the Place.----Many Expreſſes, going to and from the Garriſon, have been killed.

From Fort Bedford we have Advice, that a ſcouting Party of Colonel Stevens's Voluntiers on the Virginia Frontier, towards Wincheſter, lately fell in with a Party of Indians on Potowmack, about 25 Miles from Fort Cumberland, and routed them, killing and ſcalping One, wounding ſeveral, and recovering two Priſoners, and three Scalps, taken four Days before; they took from the Enemy four Rifles, as many Horſes as were reckoned worth One Hundred Pounds, and a great Deal of other Plunder; and all without having a Man killed or wounded.---We alſo learn from Bedford, that almoſt all the Grain, within ten Miles of that Place, was reaped and ſtacked.

On Sunday Night laſt we had a ſmart Thunder-guſt, when two Barracks of Hay, about a Mile from the City, were ſet on Fire, and burnt, by the Lightning.

BOSTON, Auguſt 25.

Thurſday laſt the Province Sloop Maſſachuſetts, Captain Saunders, arrived here from the Eaſtward, in which came Meſerwanderomet, Ectambuit, and Sawro Woraromogaſa, Indians of Penobſcot. And on Monday and Tueſday laſt his Excellency the Governor, in Council, had a Conference with them at the Council Chamber.

The Conference related chiefly to the proper Methods of Trade to be carried on between the Engliſh and the Indians.

The above Indians informed his Excellency, that they were impowered by the Penobſcot, Paſſamaquoda and Machias Tribes, to declare their Willingneſs to ſubmit to King GEORGE, and this Government, and be governed by Engliſh Laws; and that they were deſirous of renewing their ancient Treaties, to live in Peace, and never be at War again with the Engliſh.

The Governor in Anſwer to their Declaration, told them, that as his Majeſty King GEORGE had ſubdued all the Country which the French uſed to hold, He was now become Sovereign of the Whole: That the French who remain here were now become Subjects to King GEORGE; and both French and Indians would be treated as Children, as long as they behaved dutifully to Him.

His Excellency ordered that ſome ſmall Preſents ſhould be delivered them before they went away; and inform'd them, that if they ſhould be deſirous to make Submiſſion to this Government, and renew the Treaties heretofore made with it, in a formal Manner, they might ſignify their Deſire to him.

The Indians upon the whole expreſſed themſelves well ſatisfied.

They ſay, that the Norridgewalk Tribe conſiſted of about Ten, who were with the Weweenocks, and live among them at Becacour.

It is reported a Maſt ſhip is arrived at Caſco-Bay from England.

We hear from Barnſtable, that about 10 Days ago a young Man, belonging to that Place, named Sturgis, was kick'd in the lower Part of his Stomach by a Horſe, as he was putting on a Pillion behind, which wounded him in ſuch a Manner that he died before next Morning.

Friday laſt a Boy about 18 Months old accidentally fell into a Cellar at the South End, which had Water and Mud in it, where he was ſuffocated.

We hear from Portſmouth, in New-Hampſhire, That laſt Wedneſday, about 2 o'Clock in the Afternoon, they had there very ſevere Thunder, attended with ſmart Lightning, which ſtruck a Man dumb, that had taken Shelter in a Warehouſe, and 'tis thought he cannot live long.---Likewiſe from Kittery Point we hear, that a young Woman, about 20 Years of Age, was ſtruck inſtantly dead, and four other Perſons ſtruck dumb.

Paris, May 10. Two Perſons have died here lately of upwards of 100 Years of Age; one was an Officer's Lady of 100, who had buried eight Huſbands; and the other a Mechanick, who maried when he was 20, kept his Wife but one Week, and never ventured on another.

Thorn (in Poland) May 18. The King has ſhewn the higheſt Marks of Reſpect and Eſteem in his Reception of the Earl Marſhal, Brother to the late Field Marſhal Keith, at Potſdam, where his Majeſty arrived on the 26th of May. He has diſmiſſed two Miniſters employed in the Finances.

A Treaty is ſuppoſed to be nearly concluded between the Courts of Berlin and Manheim.

Berlin, May 31. The three Generals, Finck, Rebentiſch, and Gerſdorff, who were ſummoned to give an Account of their Conduct, with Reſpect to the Affair at Maxen, after ſeveral Interrogatories, have been condemned in a Council of War, in which Gen. Ziethen preſided. The firſt, who commanded in Chief, is broke, and to be put under Arreſt for a whole Year. The Puniſhment of the Second, conſiſts in ſix Months Confinement, and that of the Third, in being broke, and an Arreſt of two Years. This Sentence has been confirmed by the King, and the three Generals are to be conducted To-morrow or next Day, to the Fortreſs of Spandau, the deſtined Place of their Confinement.

Major General de Wunſch, who ſerved in the ſame Expedition, and was likewiſe made Priſoner, has received on the other Hand great Elogiums. It is pretended, that very far from thinking that the Corps ought to ſurrender, he delivered it as his Opinion, that they ſhould force their Way through the Enemy, and that he even begged that he might be put at the Head of Platen's Regiment, to begin the Attack. What is certain is, that the King, in order to teſtify his Satisfaction in his Conduct, has juſt conferred on him the Regiment lately commanded by General Finck.

He has ſent to all the Sea Ports Commiſſioners to make a ſtrict Scrutiny into the State of the Navy, and has ſent Commiſſions to England to purchaſe all the large Ships that are to be ſold there.

Gottenburgh (in Sweden) June 7. On the 24th ult. died in this Neighbourhood, one Pear Anderſon Mellgreen, a Peaſant of the Village of Fegland, aged 119 Years. He enjoyed his Health all his Life Time, without any Sickneſs, till within two Months of his Death, and could read without Spectacles.

Plymouth, June 3. Since my laſt arrived a French Cartel Ship to take on board their Priſoners. There are now here, in the old Mill Priſon, about 500, which this Ship and a flat-bottomed Boat will take off.

A Number of them having been embarked on board one of their flat-bottomed Boats, and detained by contrary Winds for ſeveral Days, ſome of the Fellows were obſerved ſurveying the Harbour of Catwater, which overlooks the Garriſon. They ſeem to think a Peace will not laſt long, though they are as complaiſant now as poſſible; they even catch our Fiſh, and ſell them to us; ſeveral of their Boats were a few Days ſince in Bigbury Bay, and fiſhed not above a Cable's Length from Shore; the Smugglers went off to them, thinking they had Brandy to ſell, but found them to be only Fiſhermen.

Wales, June 15. A few Days ſince died Margaret Lewis, of Cewmyger, in the Pariſh of Llanarmon, Denbighſhire, aged 100 Years: She had never a known Fit of Illneſs in her Life, but that which took her off.

Extract of a Letter from Conſtantinople, dated May 3.

"Since the Receipt of the News of the Ratification of the Peace between the late belligerent Powers of Europe, the Miniſters of the ſeveral Courts here begin to viſit each other without Reſerve. Thoſe of France and England did themſelves that Honour on the 18th of laſt Month, and the former and the Miniſter of the King of Pruſſia ſix Days after.

"Yeſterday all the Ambaſſadors reſident here paid their Compliments of Felicitation to the new Grand Vizir.

"The Miniſters of the Second Rank, ſuch as the Conſuls, Charges des Affairs, &c. will do the ſame next Week, excepting Baron Penckler, Internuncio from the Court of Vienna, who keeps his Room, on account of an Indiſpoſition. As this Illneſs has happened to him at ſo critical a Time, many are inclined to draw unfavourable Omens from it, and pretend that it is only feigned, on account of his being not on ſo good a Footing with the preſent Vizir. Whether there be any Truth in theſe Conjectures, Time will ſoon ſhow, as it is certain, that, if there be any Coldneſs between them, or ſhould the new Vizir's Diſpoſition be leſs pacific than the former, there are ſtill Punctilios left to furniſh the Porte with a Pretence for breaking with the Court of Vienna, and thereby of ſetting all Europe again into a Flame."

CHARLES-TOWN (in SOUTH-CAROLINA) Auguſt 3.

Laſt Week Expreſſes were ſent off to all the Indians in the Southern Diſtrict, on Account of the War begun to the Northward.

The Accounts from the Creeks are, that all Things are quiet among the Indians there.

BOSTON, Auguſt 29.

By a Gentleman who came to Town Yeſterday from Quebec and Montreal, we learn, that there is not the laſt Diſturbance among the Indians in thoſe Parts, but that they daily bring in Furs, &c. and trade with the Inhabitants in the moſt amicable Manner; we alſo learn that they have brought in moſt of the Engliſh Priſoners, who have been ſo unfortunate as to be taken Captives by them in the late War.

NEW-YORK, September 5.

A Letter from DETROIT, Auguſt 8, 1763.

THE 25th of July, we landed at Sanduſky (where the Fort formerly ſtood) about Break of Day; and inſtantly marched 8 Serjeants, and 160 Men, with 5 Subalterns, for an Indian Town, that lay about 6 Miles off from the Lake; Capt. Dalzell, and myſelf, was in this Detachment; I commanded an advanced Guard of Light Infantry, leaving Capt. Grant, of the 80th, to ſecure our Boats and Retreat. We came to the Town about 8 o'Clock in the Morning, and directly ſurrounded it, but could find none of the Enemy there; all that we could do was to burn their Hutts, which were made of Bark, and bring off ſome Peltry that the Enemy had hid there; we likewiſe cut up ſome Corn, but it is of ſo ſmall Value, that it is hardly worth mentioning. We returned to our Boats about 2 o'Clock the ſame Day; and that Night rowed about 5 Miles to an Iſland, and there encamped. The 27th, in the Morning, the Wind blew fair at South to carry us acroſs by the Iſlands to the Mouth of the River Detroit; and, with a fair Wind, and good Sails, we came to it at 3 o'Clock in the Afternoon, having Diſtance from Sanduſky about 50 Miles. When we came there, I put into Leeward of a ſmall Iſland, and waited for the Rear; the whole arrived very ſoon. Capt. Dalzell ordered us to proceed; we got undiſcovered to the Horenges Villages, where the Savages fired on both Sides at us, juſt at the Dawn of Day; but we kept the Center of the River, which is about 600 Yards acroſs. The Indians wounded 10 Men ſlightly, but killed none; we arrived at the Fort about Sun-riſe the Morning of the 28th.

In the Morning of the 30th, a Detachment was ordered to march under the Command of Capt. Dalzell, of 140 Men, with Gray of the 55th, Major Rogers, Capt. Grant of the 80th, Lieuts. Brown, Luke, and Narthlow of the 55th, with Lieuts. Bain and Cuyler of the Queen's Rangers, Lieut. M'Dougall, and Enſigns Pauly and Anderſon, of the Royal-Americans, Enſigns Anderſon and Fiſher, with Lieut. Gatchel, of the 55th, with a proper Proportion of Serjeants, Corporals and Drummers, and 8 Voluntiers from the Traders, with Monſ. Babee and Martine, on whoſe Intelligence we depended. We marched up the River Side, along the Road that led to the Indian Encampment, having on our Left Fields of Wheat, and Orchards, and on our Right a ſandy Beach to the Water Side, with no other Cover to the Detachment than two Battoes, with Swivels in their Bows. In this Manner we marched about a Mile two deep, with an advanced Guard of 25 Men, under the Command of Lieut. Brown, about 20 Yards a-head. We continued our March with fixed Bayonets; the advanced Guard got about the Center of a Bridge we had to croſs, and the Main Body juſt entering of it, we received a Fire from the Houſes (of which there were many there) and Hedges in Front, which killed and wounded the greateſt Part of the advanced Guard; the Fire we returned in Platoons, and ſoon after received a Fire from our left Flank; but we marched over the Bridge, and beat the Enemy from the Hedges, &c. by the Aſſiſtance of the Boats aforementioned, where we halted the Detachment for ſome Time, to get the Dead and Wounded on board the Boats, the Indians in the mean Time got between us and the Fort; in this Situation the Detachment was ordered to face to the Right about, and fall in two deep, and retreat ſlowly, Capt. Dalzell in the Rear with the Light Infantry; in this Manner we retreated, followed by a heavy Fire from the Hedges, Orchards, Houſes, &c. keeping cloſe to the Fences that divided the Inhabitants Fields from the Road, and once in a while ſent out a Party to beat them back a little; when we had marched Half a Mile, the Enemy came cloſe upon our Right, and attacked us with a heavy Fire; upon which, Capt. Gray was ordered out with his Company, to beat them back, and myſelf ordered with another Detachment, to take Poſſeſſion of a Houſe the Enemy had got into, oppoſite the Center of the Detachment. I took Poſſeſſion of the Houſe, with ſome Loſs, and Capt. Gray drove the Enemy back from the Fence, but with Loſs, himſelf being wounded. About this Time Capt. Dalzell was killed, and Lieut. Brown wounded; Capt. Gray was brought to the Houſe, and the Rear came up; the Boats fired with their Round and Grape Shot, which, by the Help of our Muſquetry from the Houſe, drove the Enemy to ſome Diſtance, and gave me an Opportunity to put Capt. Gray, Lieut. Brown, and ſeveral other wounded Men, on board the Boats; which Delay cauſed the Front and Rear to be divided, by Reaſon of the Front's marching forward, on which I ſent a Meſſenger to Captain Grant, to deſire him to halt in the Front (as I was then the Commanding Officer of the Party) and marched up with the Rear, followed cloſely by the Savages, which continued coming cloſer and cloſer, in ſo much, that I was obliged to take Poſſeſſion of another Houſe, which I did with Lieut. Narthlow, and Enſign Anderſon, and about 30 Men, which was the only Way I could think of to ſecure the Retreat.

I went forward to acquaint Captain Grant, that he might ſecure the Retreat in the ſame Manner, or as he thought beſt; which he did, by taking Poſſeſſion of the Houſes; alſo at this Houſe the whole of the Enemy fell upon me, thinking to force the Houſe, the Boats having gone down to the Fort with the Wounded, and to return directly with a freſh Supply of Men and Ammunition. Here I ſtood them about two Hours, with only the Loſs of two Men; they were in Number 200 at leaſt, and they kept up a very briſk Fire through the Windows of the Houſe, which were very large; but I fortified them with Beaver Skins, as there were many in the Houſe, as alſo the Chamber, beating the Boards off the Roof, and making a Breaſt-Work with them and Skins. About 8 o'Clock the two Row-Boats came up, one with a 3 Pounder in her Bow; ſhe immediately threw in a Shower of Round and Grape to the Right and Left of the Houſe, to a Barn and ſome Defiles which were there, and drove the Enemy back, with the Help of our Small-arms. This gave us an Opportunity of making our Retreat to the Fort, where we arrived at Half paſt 8.---Capt. Dalzell, one Serjeant, one Corporal, and 19 Men, of this Detachment, were killed; Capt. Gray ſhot through the Body and Right Arm, Lieut. Brown through the Thigh, Lieut. Luke in the Leg, and 48 Men wounded. Since the above we have had ſeveral Skirmiſhes, but none of any Conſequence, having no Men either killed or wounded.

Pindiac, who is the Indian Chief, and calls himſelf King from the Riſing of the Sun to the Setting, is encamped 4 Miles above the Fort, where he is well entrenched, and declares he will never leave that Ground till he has got Poſſeſſion of the Fort."

Another Letter from Detroit, dated Auguſt 8, 1763.

SINCE my laſt, from Preſque-Iſle, I can with more Certainty inform you of the Block-houſe having been burnt by the Indians; and not only finding the Saps they had made to approach it, and ſet it on Fire with Torches and Fire Arrows, but we found going along ſeveral of their Camps, where they had trimmed and cut our Soldiers Hair. Mr. Chriſtie, who commanded at Preſque-Iſle, is now here; as likewiſe Mr. Pauly, of Sanduſky; Mr. Sloſſer, of St. Joſeph's, and his Garriſon.

The 26th we arrived at Sanduſky, and the 27th, early in the Morning, we went to attack a little Village, about 4 Miles from the Place, where our Block-houſe uſed to ſtand, on the Road to Fort-Pitt; but finding the Indians had left it ſome Time before, we burnt and deſtroyed their Hutts or Log-houſes, ten in Number, and their Corn Fields, found a few Packs of Beaver and Racoons, to the Value of about 40 Pounds, York Currency, which we carried off, for the Benefit of the Soldiers; as likewiſe ſome Bear's Oil, and Indian Corn.

The 28th we came to the River at Detroit, and proceeded up the ſame in the Night; and a little paſt the firſt Inhabitants upon the Weſt Shore, we were fired at by ſome Indians, in coming by a thick Fog too near the Shore: We fired at them with 4 Swivels till Daylight, and then proceeded in the Middle of the River, they firing from both Sides till near the Fort; we had 10 Privates and 1 Gunner wounded, 1 of them died ſince, and ſix more hurt, but got ſoon better.

The 31ſt Capt. Dalzell went with a Party of about 250 Men, in hopes to ſurpriſe a Party of Indians, who were encamped about 3 Miles up the Weſt Side of the River, wherefore we left the Fort about 2 o'Clock in the Morning, ſo as to be in their Camp about Day-break; two Boats, in each of them were a Patararo fixed, the ſize of Three Pounders, were to cover our Front and Rear; but the Party marching too faſt, without waiting for the intended Uſe of the Boats, found themſelves fired upon by (as the Canadians ſay) about 300 Indians, about a Mile and a Half from the Fort, behind a ſort of Lines they had made of Cord Wood, belonging to the Inhabitants; not expecting the Enemy ſo near, and being dark, made our Soldiers conſider a little, but being encouraged by Capt. Dalzel, who then got a Wound in his Thigh, after a ſecond Diſcharge of the Enemy, puſhed over a Bridge, upon the other Side of which the Enemy lay, and drove them from their Poſt; but being dark, Captain Dalzel halted a little for to ſee Day Light, and after ſending of one of the arm'd Boats with the Dead and Wounded, I am told, ordered to retreat; being foggy the Indians had a great Advantage, in going towards our Rear, and other Poſts, or ſome Piles of Wood, our People were obliged to drive them from. Capt. Dalzel at this Time received another Wound, and a little after another, it is ſaid, through his Body, made him fall, and was left with ſeven more Soldiers in the Field; at the ſame Time, Capt. Gray of the 55th, was wounded through his Arm and Belly, Lieut. Brown through his right Thigh, and Lieut. Luke through his left Calf of the Leg. The incloſed is a Liſt of the Party, when they went out, and likewiſe the Killed and Wounded.

We are unlucky in our Parties being always diſcovered, and the Enemy knowing every Thing we are doing in the Fort, We have twice ſince endeavoured to ambuſh them, but miſcarried as yet, though all poſſible Precaution was taken in going out, and in ordering the Parties, without the Knowledge of the Inhabitants.

The Savages, who, ſince this Affair, have been reinforced, continue in their former Encampment; but can make no Impreſſion on the Fort, as the Garriſon have ample Supplies of all Kinds.

Great Part of the Reinforcements that are ordered to the Detroit, muſt be well advanced by this Time; and, we truſt, we ſhall ſoon have the Pleaſure of giving the Public an Account not only of their Arrival, but of their Succeſs in clearing the Country of the Barbarians, as well as puniſhing them ſo ſeverely, that they ſhall never dare to attack any of our Settlements hereafter.

Yeſterday the Marlborough Tranſport, with a Number of Officers, belonging to the different Regiments now in America, failed for London.

Saturday laſt the Sloop Cornwallis, Captain Ramſey, arrived here in 13 Days from Halifax: He ſays the Indians are very peaceable in that Quarter; and that the Reports we lately had from thence of their beginning to be troubleſome, was no more than a Conteſt that happened between an Inhabitant of the Townſhip of Cornwallis, and two or three Indians that had ſhot a Gooſe belonging to the former; and he for Satisfaction killed one of their Dogs. But the Matter was ſoon amicably adjuſted.

PHILADELPHIA, September 8.

Extract of a Letter from Fort Cumberland, dated Auguſt 29.

"I now tranſmit you an Account of our moſt material Occurrences with the Enemy ſince my laſt, in which I mentioned an Attack the Indians made at one Kuykendall's Fort, on the South Branch of Potowmack, from which they were beat off. They then immediately divided themſelves into three Parties; one of which, a few Days after, killed one Perſon, and took two others Priſoners, on the Waters of Cape Capunk; an Account of which was brought to Captain Crawford, who, with 28 Voluntiers, was marching to this Place from ſaid South Branch; upon which he and his Party returned, took the Tracks of the Enemy, purſued them about 60 Miles, overtook them, killed and ſcalped one Indian, retook two Priſoners, one of which wounded, and got eleven Horſes, and conſiderable other Plunder; all which he brought to this Place.---Two Days after Captain Crawford's Return, there was Advice brought of eleven Indians being in the Parts, when one Captain M'Cullough, then here, with about 30 Voluntiers, went out on a Scout, to the ſecond Croſſings of Youghyoughgania, where they fell in with three Indians, whom they fired upon, killed one, and releaſed a Juſtice of Peace they had made Priſoner, and got ſeveral Horſes, and other Plunder.---Theſe were two of the Parties into which the Enemy had divided themſelves, after they left Kuykendall's Fort; the third Party went down within eight Miles of Wincheſter, where they took ten Priſoners, and killed ſeveral Perſons; and, by one of the Priſoners, who made his Eſcape from them about Twenty Miles above this, and came in, we are informed, that they had taken one more Perſon, and killed another, from Patterſon's Creek, on their Way out, and had with them Twenty-one Horſes, all heavy loaded.---A Party from the South Branch is after them."

In a Letter from Fort Bedford, about the ſame Date with the above, it is ſaid, that the Indians were much quieter then than they had been been for ſome Time before; and that it was thought they began to dread the Conſequences of the horrid Cruelties they had been guilty of.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman, who went out with a Party of Voluntiers from Lancaſter County, for the Great Iſland, on the Weſt Branch of Saſquehannah, dated September 1.

"Laſt Friday, at Five o' Clock in the Afternoon, we had the Happineſs of meeting a large Party of the Great Iſland Warriors at Munſey Creek Hill, on their Way to the Frontiers of this Province. They had the firſt Fire on our Advance Party, which was forced back on our Front, and, purſuing, engaged us briſkly for ſome Time; but as we diſpoſed of the Party ſo much to their Diſadvantage, after Half an Hour's hot Firing, they were obliged to run, with conſiderable Loſs. I killed two myſelf, and ſaw ſeveral others fall, by the good Behaviour of our Men.---John Clemons, Alexander Scott, James Chambers, and James M'Lanachan, were killed in the Engagement, and four others wounded, whom we brought in with us---We hid the Killed, ſo that the Indians did not get one Scalp---We brought in four Scalps, and killed at leaſt ſix more of the Enemy, but did not think it prudent to follow and ſcalp them, for fear of ſome of the Indians falling in with our wounded Men.----We loſt ſeveral Horſes."

In other Letters from Lancaſter County it is ſaid, That the Indians were ſeen dragging off ſeveral of their Dead and Wounded, but that it was thought not proper to follow them too far, being in the Enemy's Country: That the next Day our Party was attacked twice by the Indians, but beat off without any Loſs: That ſome of our Men came to a Fire, where there were three Indians, whom they killed and ſcalped; they had ſome Indian Goods with them: That they brought in ſome Rifles, and other Plunder, and were in high Spirits, having beat 50 Indian Warriors, notwithſtanding they had the firſt Fire at them: That if they met with proper Encouragement, they would immediately go out again againſt the Enemy, who, it was thought, might return to revenge their Loſs, having at leaſt ten or fifteen of their Men killed: And that the Preventing that Party coming down at that Time on the Frontiers, muſt have been a Service of the utmoſt Conſequence to the Province; as thereby a great Deal of Blood, in all Probability, was prevented from being ſhed, and ſome Hundreds of Families kept on their Places, which otherwiſe muſt have been drove off.-----It is ſaid the Indians fought all naked, and were painted black.----Our Party, we hear, conſiſted of 110 Men.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

By the HARRIOT PACKET, arrived at NEW-YORK from FALMOUTH, we have the following Advices, viz.

ST. JAMES's, June 15.

THIS day the following Addreſs was read, and preſented to his Majeſty by Dr. King, accompanied by a Committee from the Body of Proteſtant Diſſenting Miniſters in and about the Cities of London and Weſtminſter; introduced by the Earl of Halifax.

To the KING's moſt Excellent MAJESTY,
The humble ADDRESS of the Proteſtant Diſſenting Miniſters in and about the Cities of London and Weſtminſter.

MOST GRACIOUS SOVEREIGN,

YOUR Majeſty's ever loyal and faithful Subjects, the Proteſtant Diſſenting Miniſters in and about the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, humbly beg leave to congratulate your Majeſty on the reſtoration of Peace to your own dominions, and to the world in general; an event truly intereſting to all who are influenced by Sentiments of Humanity, and peculiarly pleaſing to the Miniſters of the Goſpel of Peace.

The unparalelled ſucceſs and glory which crowned your Majeſty's arms, whilſt they excited our gratitude to the Almighty, could not ſuppreſs our concern for the numberleſs calamities and diſorders inſeparable from war. As theſe are happily brought to a period, we can now indulge the delightful expectation, that the advancement of piety and virtue, of civil and religious liberty, and of thoſe arts which improve and embelliſh human life, will be the reſult of public tranquility, and the juſt praiſe of your Majeſty's reign.

The large acceſſions made to your Majeſty's Empire in America, not only promiſe an increaſe of Commerce, with its attendants, Wealth and Power, but likewiſe open a way for diffuſing freedom and ſcience, political order and Chriſtian knowledge, through thoſe extenſive regions, which are now ſunk in ſuperſtition and barbariſm; and for imparting, even to the moſt uncultivated of our ſpecies, the happineſs of Britons.

GREAT SIR,

The Proteſtant Diſſenters have been ever ſtrongly attached to thoſe excellent Princes, your Royal Progenitors; having always conſidered the Revolution as the glorious æra of liberty to theſe kingdoms, and the ſucceſſion in your Auguſt Houſe, as, under God, its firmeſt eſtabliſhment: And the goodneſs of your Majeſty's heart, your high ſenſe of domeſtic virtue, and your avowed regard to religion, concur to heighten our zeal for the dignity of your Crown, and the proſperity of your Government. It ſhall be our conſtant care to approve our loyalty and fidelity to your Majeſty, by promoting concord, and by recommending to thoſe with whom we are connected ſuch principles, as are calculated to render them at once good ſubjects and good men.

We have only to add our fervent ſupplications to the Moſt High, that your Majeſty may reign long, the father of a free, and the delight of an happy people; and that the Imperial Crown of theſe realms may deſcend, in your illuſtrious line, to the lateſt generations.

To which ADDRESS his MAJESTY was pleaſed to return this moſt gracious ANSWER.

'I THANK you for this affectionate and dutiful Addreſs.
'You judge rightly of my deſire and intention to improve the
'bleſſings of the peace, which God has granted us, to the uni-
'verſal benefit of my ſubjects, and to the advancement of reli'gion and virtue. Your reſolution to inculcate the principles of 'piety and loyalty, is very agreeable to me; and you may rely on my protection, and my care to maintain the toleration.'

They were all moſt graciouſly received, and had the honour to kiſs his Majeſty's hand.

Copenhagen, June 11. The fatal diſtemper among the cattle rages more than ever. We hear of its ſpreading continually both in Jutland and Holſtein; and ſeveral diſtricts in this iſland, which had been free from it hitherto, are now infected.

Hague, June 17. Letters from Dantzick, of the 10th inſt. adviſe, that Count de Romanzoff, who had the chief command of the Ruſſian army in Poland when the late Emperor of Ruſſia died, and to whom the ſaid General was very much attached, for which he loſt his command, and thereupon retired to Dantzick, has now received orders from the Empreſs to repair to Court, to partake of her favours.

Dreſden, June 8. Orders are given to raze all the fortifications that have been built without our walls ſince the year 1756.

Leipſick, June 11. Such a fine proſpect of a plentiful harveſt was never known in the memory of man. The whole country looks like a vaſt garden. Our Magiſtrates have ordered all the redoubts and fortifications erected round this city during the war to be razed, which will be a work of much time and expence.

Hamburgh, June 14. We hear that the difference between the Landgrave of Heſſe-Caſſel and his Princeſs, as Tutoreſs to her ſons, touching the poſſeſſion of the county of Hanau, is accommodated, to the entire ſatisfaction of both parties.

We are informed, that the Landgrave of Heſſe-Darmſtadt is determined not to diſcharge the Counſellors, which he lately carried off from Witſlar, till the Magiſtrates ſend him a formal deputation to expreſs their diſavowal and diſapprobation of the inſult lately offered to a detachment of his troops by the inhabitants.

By the KING.

BE it known to all men, that a good, firm, permanent, and ſolid peace, with an entire and ſincere reconciliation, has been made and agreed upon, between the moſt potent Prince Lewis, by the Grace of God, King of France and Navarre, our Sovereign Lord: The moſt high, moſt excellent, and moſt potent Prince George, King of Great-Britain, Elector of Brunſwick Lunenburg: And the moſt high, moſt excellent, and moſt potent Prince Joſeph, King of Portugal, and of the Algarves, their vaſſals, ſubjects and ſervants, in all their kingdoms, countries, territories and lordſhips, under their obedience: That the ſaid peace is general between them, and their ſaid vaſſals and ſubjects; and that by means thereof, they are permitted to go, come, return, and ſojourn in all the places of the ſaid kingdoms, ſtates, and countries; to traffick, and carry on trade, to hold correſpondence, and to have communication with each other, and this with all liberty, freedom and ſafety, as well by land as by ſea, and on the rivers and other waters, and the whole entirely in the ſame manner as it has been, and ought to be practiſed, in time of good, ſincere and friendly peace, ſuch as that which it has pleaſed the Divine Goodneſs to give to the ſaid Lord the King, to the ſaid Lord the King of Great-Britain, Elector of Brunſwick Lunenburg, to the ſaid Lord the King of Portugal, and of the Algarves, and to their people and ſubjects. And in order to maintain them therein, it is moſt expreſly forbidden to all perſons, of what quality and condition ſoever they may be, to undertake, attempt, or innovate any thing to the contrary, or to the prejudice thereof, on pain of being ſeverely puniſhed, as violaters of peace, and diſturbers of the public tranquility. And to the end that no one may pretend ignorance hereof, theſe preſents ſhall be read, publiſhed, and affixed where it ſhall be neceſſary. Done at Verſailles, the 3d day of June, 1763. Signed Louis. And lower, the Duc de Praſlin, and ſealed with the ſmall private ſeal."

Genoa, June 6. By a veſſel which arrived on the firſt inſtant, from Corſica, we learn, that the Malecontents, having repulſed the troops of the Republick at Alteira, advanced to Calvi, from whence they had ſince retired, after ravaging the country, and cutting down the green corn.

Paris, June 13. It is ſaid that the fire-works on occaſion of the peace are to be exhibited the 22d of this month on the river, between the Eſplanade and the Palais Bourbon, where the King and the Royal Family will go to ſee them, and afterwards ſup with the Marſhal Prince d'Iſenghein. The expence will amount to 43,750 l. ſterling: But half of this ſum will be laid out in victuals and drink, to be diſtributed to the populace at all the Carrefours of the city.

Vienna, June 11. Advice has been received, that a conſiderable body of Turks have invaded the Imperial Croatia near Brot and Gradiſca, that they have pillaged ſeveral villages, carried off numbers of cattle, forage, and other proviſions; ſo that they were obliged to aſſemble all the poſts thereabouts to drive theſe plunderers into their own country. Hitherto it is believed, this invaſion proceeds from the great ſcarcity that reigns amongſt the Turks in that neighbourhood; becauſe as the plague is broken out there, the Imperial ſubjects are forbidden having any communication with them. However, Colonel Lanius has received orders to ſet out without delay for that Kingdom, to order ſeveral Saïques to be built, and to raiſe men neceſſary for the manning of them.

The Duke of Deux-Ponts ſet out from hence laſt week for Manheim, where he will paſs the ſummer; after which he will go to Prague to take on him the government of the kingdom of Bohemia. Prince Charles of Loraine is expected here about the end of this month.

All poſſible means are uſed for repairing the fortreſſes of Hungary, and putting them into a good ſtate of defence.

Conſtantinople, May 16. Letters from Perſia, of the 15th of April, adviſe, that Zancharim, Khan of the Tartars, was then marching to Iſpahan, at the head of a numerous army, with a deſcendant of the famous Thamas Kouli Khan, whom he propoſed to place on the Throne.

Naples, June 3. We hear that the Duke de Loſada and the Prince de Francaville, are to ſet out for Vienna in the character of Ambaſſadors Extraordinary, to make a demand of two Archducheſſes, one for the King our Sovereign, and the other for the Prince of Aſturias.

A treaty of alliance between the auguſt Houſes of Auſtria and Spain is alſo talked of, in which all thoſe between Charles VI. and Philip V. and alſo the Pragmatic Sanction, will be guarantied afreſh.

The Catholic King has juſt now ranſomed the Spaniſh officers and ſoldiers, who were priſoners at Algiers, at an expence of 270,000 piaſters.

Hamburgh, June 21. Letters from different quarters adviſe, that the King of Pruſſia ſeems to be wholly taken up about reviving and extending the trade of his dominions, particularly that of Berlin, Konigſberg, Magdebourg, Breſlau, Stettin, and Colberg. As to the laſt of theſe cities, the Court of Pruſſia demands, that the veſſels of its traders may be exempted by the Court of Denmark from paying the toll at paſſing the Sound. This claim is founded on Colberg's being one of the Hanſe towns, which formerly enjoyed this privilege. The Daniſh Miniſtry diſcover no inclination to comply with this demand, alledging, that this toll is paid by all veſſels from France, England, and other parts, in ſome of which there were formerly Hanſe towns; and that ſuch a preference in favour of Colberg, would ſerve for an example to others, and be attended with bad conſequences.

Cleves, June 25. We are juſt now informed, that the King of Pruſſia has reſolved to raze the fortifications of Weſel and Gueldres, but to leave the citadel of the former ſtanding. His Majeſty's motive for this may be eaſily gueſſed at.

Hanover, June 24. We continue to levy men to complete the two new regiments of light dragoons, which are to conſiſt of eight companies, or four ſquadrons each.

Amſterdam, June 28. By letters from Altena, there never was a finer proſpect of a plentiful crop of all manner of grain than they have this year in Holſtein, Hanover, Weſtphalia, Heſſe, and the adjacent countries.

Minorca, June 4. Colonel Lambart arrived here the 31ſt of laſt month, in ſix days from Gibraltar, with the 3d, 57th, and 67th regiments, landed the troops, took poſſeſſion of Fort St. Philip, and the reſt of the iſland, and found the fortifications in good order. This day the French garriſon embarked on board three of their ſhips of war, and will ſail immediately; ſo that there only remain of that nation, an officer of artillery to deliver up the ſtores, and a few ſick men, with whom proper attendants and medicines are left.

Cleves, June 28. Not only the fortifications of Weſel and Guelдres, but thoſe of Lipſtadt alſo, are ordered to be demoliſhed. But the fortifications of Minden are to be augmented.

Hague, July 1. The men of war intended for the relief of the colony of Berbices, are ſailed; and in the courſe of the next week the troops will be ordered to embark.

Hague, June 29. Letters from Germany, of the 25th inſt. aſſert, that the Landgrave of Heſſe Darmſtadt has been prevailed on to releaſe the citizens of Wetzlar, which his troops carried away to Gieſſen, on condition a formal deputation from the ſenators, burghers, and inhabitants of that city, is ſent to aſk his pardon for the affront that was given by them to his troops.

Cadiz, June 3. We learn from Gibraltar, that the Swediſh Ambaſſador has concluded a Treaty of Peace with the King of Morocco, and is returned to Tangier

Vienna, June 21. It is whiſpered, that advice was received yeſterday of an irruption by a gang of banditti into Eſclavonia, where they carried off a piquet of a regiment.

Vienna, June 23. Beſides twelve ſaïques of three or four cannons each, which are building here, and a number of equal force at Cloſter Neubourg, which are deſtined for Hungary, the Court have alſo ſent to Italy for ſeveral boat-builders, ſhipwrights, &c. and Col. Lanius is on the point of ſetting out for that kingdom, to raiſe a battalion to ſerve on board the ſaid ſaïques.

Ratiſbon, June 23. The Magiſtrates of Wetzlar have ſent their Deputy here an ample memorial relating to a military execution made on that town the latter end of laſt month by the troops of Heſſe Darmſtadt; with orders to preſent it to the Miniſter of Mentz, to be carried to the Dictature, which cannot be done till the election of an Archbiſhop of Mentz has put an end to the diſputes concerning the directory of the empire. In the mean time, a letter from the Magiſtrates of Wetzlar to the college of Citys, dated the 7th inſtant, is handed about; it contains nothing more than what has already been inſerted in the publick papers, except that after the imperial chamber had iſſued ſeveral decrees againſt the court of Darmſtadt with regard to thoſe proceedings, the ſaid troops, after having reinforced that part of the garriſon which the court of Darmſtadt has a right to keep there, had quitted the city the 31ſt of laſt month, carrying with them to Gieſſen all the perſons they had taken up; where they were not only detained, but, in diſdain of the imperial decrees, condemned to work at the fortifications. The magiſtrates add, they were buſy in drawing up the verbal proceſs relating to theſe outrages, and in ſpecifying their grievances; after which they promiſe to give further informations in the college of Citys.

Vienna, June 25. Though it is given out in the gazette of this city, that the depredations lately committed on the borders of Sclavonia, are the acts of nothing but a troop of Banditti, we cannot help apprehending they may be the prelude of greater diſturbances; for thoſe Banditti (if they be really ſuch) muſt either be pretty numerous, or well diſciplined, or they could not have maſtered and carried off a whole picket of regular troops: And we are confirmed in theſe apprehenſions, by the Court's orders for building a number of ſaïques and other veſſels on the Danube, for tranſporting troops to Hungary; to which end, ſhip-wrights and boat-builders have been ſent for from Italy.

It may indeed be deemed a ſoleciſm in politics, for the Turks to come to a rupture with us, whilſt we are diſengaged from war with other powers; but we remember they have done ſo more than once. In the year 1697 they attacked the Houſe of Auſtria, juſt about the time of concluding the peace of Ryſwick; ſoon after the peace of Raſtadt, which was ſigned in 1714, they began to prepare for war, which was happily ended in 1718, by the abilities of Prince Eugene; and in the year 1736 we had another war with them, juſt after we had made peace with France; though it muſt be confeſſed that this rupture was of our own Court's ſeeking, in conjunction with Ruſſia. But, ſhould we now be embroiled with the Turks, it is doubtful whether the Ruſſians would take our part.

Toulon, June 21. M. de Bouſet, Lieutenant-General, is arrived here, to give directions for augmenting the fortifications of this place.

Lucca, June 21. Letters from Corſica inform us, that two natives of that iſland, convicted of having been concerned in delivering up Ceſtia fort to the Genoeſe troops, have been broke alive on the wheel, by order of General Paoli.

Vienna, June 27. The orders that were ſome time ago iſſued for the reduction of the troops, have, within theſe few days, been ſuſpended; the recruiting ſerjeants are very buſy in re-enliſting many of the diſbanded ſoldiers; and the greateſt induſtry is uſed in compleating the ſeveral regiments that are deſigned to oppoſe the Turks.

We have already collected together a conſiderable body of men in Hungary, which, with thoſe that are on the point of marching, we hope will be able to ſtop the progreſs of thoſe ravagers.

LONDON June 21.

Extract of a letter from Liſbon, May 30.

"Tomorrow is appointed for four regiments of foot to be reviewed before the King; but as the weather is ſet in rainy, we preſume it will be put off. They exerciſe after the Engliſh method, and they ſay perform very well, and make a good appearance. A black eagle, ſet round with diamonds, is ordered from England (the workmen here not being able to make it well) to be made a preſent to the Count de Lippe, of the value of 100,000 cruzadoes, or crowns of this country; and there is likewiſe ordered from England, a large ſervice of fine plate, to be preſented to him."

June 23. Our troops repoſſeſſed themſelves of Port Mahon the 31ſt of May, after being diſpoſſeſſed of it about eight years.

We are informed, that there never was a greater proſpect of plenty than is now in Lincolnſhire, Yorkſhire, Lancaſhire, &c.

Yeſterday the Rev. Mr. Entick, Mr. Arthur Beardmore, his clerk, and Meſſrs. Wilſon and Fell, were diſcharged by the Court of King's Bench from the recognizances they were obliged to enter into in laſt Michaelmas Term, on account of ſeveral numbers of the Monitor, concerning which no proſecution has been carried on. We hear theſe Gentlemen intend to bring actions for falſe impriſonment.

June 25. When the King of Pruſſia was at Colberg, the Prince Royal of Pruſſia, accompanied by Count de Borck, and their Attendants, went on board an Engliſh ſhip that lay at anchor off that place, and were received with great politeneſs by the captain.

The Hereditary Prince of Brunſwick is to be declared General Field Marſhal of the forces of the Electorate of Hanover, upon his marriage with the Princeſs Auguſta, and will reſide in the Electorate palace at Zell.

On the 17th, at nine in the morning, the King of Pruſſia arrived at Hanover, under a diſcharge of the cannon of the ramparts. His Majeſty was immediately waited on by the two Princes of Mecklenburgh Strelitz, and by the nobility; but he only ſtaid one quarter of an hour, and then proceeded to Brunſwick.

We are aſſured, that there are already ſome altercations between our court and that of France, in regard to the ſhip-building carrying on in different ports of that kingdom.

Notice is given at the General Poſt-Office, that the Poſt-Maſters General have added a fifth packet-boat to the New-York ſtation, in order to have a ſpeedier correſpondence from London to any part of North America; and that for the future the mails will be diſpatched from the General Poſt-Office and New-York the ſecond Saturday of every month, and the boats will ſail immediately after the mail is on board, wind and weather permitting.

They write from Breſt that a convoy with all ſorts of proviſions was to ſail from Rochfort the 16th of May for the iſlands of St. Pierre and Miquelon.

June 30. We hear that Sir Charles Frederick, Surveyor General to the Office of Ordnance, will ſet out in a few days to view the fortifications round the coaſt, and particularly to give inſtructions for erecting a new fortification at Milford Haven.

Extract of a letter from Portſmouth, June 29.

" On Monday his Majeſty's ſhips Rainbow and Aldborough fell down from Spithead to St. Helen's, to wait for a wind, in order to ſail to North America to their ſeveral ſtations.

The parliament will not meet for the diſpatch of buſineſs till the 11th of next January.

By a Gentleman who arrived on Thurſday evening from Dunkirk, we learn, that all the fortifications of that place were almoſt entirely deſtroyed; and that in a few days the workmen were to begin to ſtop up the harbour ſo far as to prevent ſhips of burthen ſailing into it.

The Dutch news-papers make mention of a marriage being on the carpet between the reigning Prince of Mecklenburgh Strelitz, eldeſt brother to the Queen, and her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs Louiſa Anne, the King's ſecond ſiſter.

July 5. Some letters from Germany adviſe, that in conſequence of the late irruption of the Turks into Imperial Croatia, the court of Vienna have reſolved to fill up their regiments again to their higheſt complement.

Yeſterday morning at nine, came on at Guildhall, before Lord Chief Juſtice Pratt, of the Common Pleas (who for the greater conveniency of the Council, Jury, &c. ſat where the Court of King's Bench is uſually held) the cauſe wherein Mr. William Huckell, one of the Journeymen printers who were apprehended on account of the North Briton, No. 45. was Plaintiff, for falſe impriſonment, and the King's Meſſengers Defendants. The Counſel for the Plaintiff were Mr. Serjeant Glynn, Mr. Stow, Mr. Dunning, Mr. Wallace, and Mr. Gardiner: For the Defendants, Mr. Attorney and Mr. Sollicitor General, Mr. Serjeant Whitaker, Mr. Serjeant Naires, Mr. Serjeant Davy, and Mr. Yates. The Attorney for the Plaintiff was Mr. James Philips of Cecil-ſtreet; and for the Defendants, Philip Carteret Webb, Eſq; of the Treaſury, and Mr. Secondary Barnes. At eight in the evening, the Jury, which was Special, and conſiſted of eminent Merchants, after withdrawing eleven minutes, brought in a verdict for the Plaintiff in 300 pounds damages, and full coſts of ſuit. After the trial was over, a Bill of Exceptions was brought by the Attorney and Sollicitor General. Huckell was the journeyman carried off by the Meſſengers at the ſame time with his Maſter, who, it was afterwards found, did not print No. 45. of the North Briton.

This morning about ten, came on the cauſe of James Lindſie, another of the journeymen printers, plaintiff, for falſe impriſonment by the King's Meſſengers, on account of No. 45. of the North Briton. It being agreed by the Council on both ſides, before Lord Chief Juſtice Pratt gave the charge to the Jury, that this trial ſhould decide the iſſue of the twelve actions brought by ſo many journeymen, that remained to be tried ſeparately, the ſpecial jury, after withdrawing about a quarter of an hour, brought in a verdict for the plaintiff in 200 pounds damages, and full coſts of ſuit.

July 9. Orders are given for the commanders of ſuch ſloops and veſſels as have been put in commiſſion, and not yet ſailed, to be as expeditious as poſſible in putting to ſea, and ſailing to their reſpective ſtations, to cruize on the ſmugglers.

A gentleman in the city having laid a wager of 500 l. that Dunkirk harbour and fortifications would not be completely deſtroyed, determined to go over himſelf and examine. He is now returned, and acknowledges his wager loſt. The whole fortifications and baſon, he ſays, are completely deſtroyed, ſo as that they could not be reinſtated in 20 years at leaſt, if it were intended; and that what now is deſtroyed ſince the peace, coſt upwards of five millions ſterling, at different times, to complete it.

July 12. Next Michaelmas term will be tried the actions which Mr. Wilkes has brought againſt Philip Carteret Webb and Robert Wood, Eſquires.

Notwithſtanding the aſſertion in ſome of the papers, that the information in the King's-Bench againſt Mr. Wilkes is withdrawn, we can aſſure the public, that the proſecution of this affair will be carried on with the perſeverance becoming the dignity of the Government.

We are informed that the Rev. Mr. Entick, Mr. Arthur Beardmore and his Clerk, and Meſſ. Wilſon and Feil, have given notice to the Right Hon. the Earl of Halifax, in purſuance of the act of parliament of the 24th of the late King (on which the bill of exceptions laſt week exhibited at Guildhall on the trial of the Journeymen-Printers is founded) that they ſhall bring their ſeveral actions againſt his Lordſhip and the Meſſengers for their impriſonment, on account of the ſeveral numbers of the Monitor, concerning which no proſecutions having been carried on, their ſeveral recognizances were by the Court of King's-Bench diſcharged the laſt day of laſt Term.

The Duke of Cumberland packet-boat, Goodridge, is arrived at Falmouth, with the mail from New-York, in twenty-five days.

July 16. We learn by ſome of our people that are returned from Breſt, who carried over a frigate, bought on the French King's account, that the French behaved very oddly to them, and were more ſcrupulous than ever we were in time of war, even to our greateſt enemies; hurried them on board a ſmall ſloop, which ſailed with the frigate to bring them back, without ſuffering them to take in water, though they told the Harbour-maſter they had only 30 gallons on board, which was not a gallon for each man. What muſt have become of theſe people, had not the wind favoured them?

Extract of a Letter from Warſaw, June 25.

" We are not a little alarmed here at the Declaration which the Empreſs of Ruſſia has publiſhed concerning ſome violences occaſioned by the eſtabliſhment of a tribunal at Wilna, and the report, that if any freſh troubles ſhould happen, that Princeſs will ſend an army of 30,000 men into Lithuania, and another of 40,000 into Poland by the Volhinia.

Yeſterday arrived a mail from Flanders; by which we have advice from Genoa, that ſince their late check in Corſica (which now appears to be far more conſiderable than was at firſt given out) the rebels have purſued the Genoeſe troops to the walls of Calvi, laying waſte the country, and burning all the towns and villages they paſſed through; and that they have attacked and carried, ſword in hand, the fort of Algaiola, which was defended by 80 men, to whom they gave no quarter.

Paoli has roaſted alive two natives of Corſica, ſaid to be convicted of treachery, in the delivering up the fort of Coſtia to the Republick's troops.

About three weeks ago, one of the French fiſhing boats, but rather ſmaller than they are in general, was ſeen in Yalm river, almoſt up to the head; as they had no goods to ſell, it is ſuppoſed their intent was to ſurvey the river, that has a ſafe harbour, and a good entrance; which, perhaps, if they had been acquainted with heretofore, they might have puſhed their flat bottomed boats that way.

CHARLES-TOWN, in South-Carolina.

Auguſt 17. All the accounts from the countries of the Southern and Weſtern Indians continue favourable. Not a week paſſes in which the Cherokees do not loſe ſome of their people by the Nottowegas or other Northern Indians; and there ſeems to be a ſettled animoſity between the Cherokees and all thoſe ſavages. One hundred Creeks, with two Cherokees as guides, are gone againſt the Yactanoes, who killed a Creek Indian of note in May laſt.

Auguſt 20. On monday laſt arrived here, in the ſhip Friendſhip, capt. Ball, from London, the long expected Indian preſents, which are to be diſtributed at the enſuing congreſs to be held the 15th of October; the place of meeting will be Auguſta, unleſs the expiration of the Small-Pox ſhould admit of another being fixed, more commodious for the Northern governors; boats we hear are hiring, proviſions are engaged or engaging, and Fort Moore is repairing or repaired, for the reception of the Governor, and a detatchment of independents. The Cherokees have received their invitations, and accept them; ſome will come from all the towns, but not many, as they are ſadly harraſſed and alarmed by the Northern Indians; the more diſtant nations can ſend no anſwer; and the Creeks have not yet, that we can learn; however there is no ſort of doubt but many of them will be at the meeting, and perhaps a little more humble than uſual, for the hoſtilities of the Northern Indians are directed againſt them alſo. There are abundance of Virginia traders in the Upper Cherokee nation, of which the Indians heavily complain.

Attakullakulla, or the Little-Carpenter, and all the other headmen and warriors of the Cherokees, have ſent down aſſurances of their reſolution to be at the intended congreſs, and expreſs great thankfulneſs to his Majeſty, for the care he has taken of the lands belonging to his children the Indians.

The Northward Indians continue to cut off numbers of both Creeks and Cherokees; ſeveral gangs of them, from 70 to 100, have been met by ſome Virginia traders going to the Cherokee country, whom they did not hurt, further than by ſtaving all their kegs of rum, and ſearching for ammunition, of which however they found none.

The ſettlement made by the Mortar headman of the Creeks, on the Cooſaw river, is broken up by theſe inroads of the Northward Indians.

PROVIDENCE, September 3.

A Gentleman lately arrived from Surinam, informs us, That the Inſurrection of the Negroes at the Dutch Settlement at Berbecia, was intirely quelled, and every Thing would ſoon be reſtored to its former State; great Numbers of the rebellious Negroes have been put to Death, for the future Security of that Place.

NEW-YORK, September 12.

By an Expreſs arrived on Saturday laſt, we learn, that Fort Detroit ſtill held out ſtrongly againſt the Savages; and that they were no Ways likely to ſucceed in their Attempt, notwithſtanding they came well provided for the Attack.

By Letters from London we learn, that an unexceptionable Coalition of Parties would ſoon take Place there; and that all former Heats and Animoſities on either Side would be buried in Oblivion.

PHILADELPHIA, September 15.

On Monday laſt the GENERAL ASSEMBLY of this Province met here.

" That on Thurſday laſt, about two o'Clock in the Afternoon, eight Indians came armed to the Houſe of John Fincher (one of the People called Quakers) about three Quarters of a Mile diſtant from a Party of Captain Kern's, conſiſting of ſix Men, commanded by Enſign Sheffer, and about 24 Miles from Reading, over the Blue Mountains: That ſaid Fincher, his Wife, two Sons, and Daughter, immediately went to the Door, and aſked them if they would eat any Thing, hoped they were come as Friends, and entreated them to ſpare their Lives: That, however, after ſome Deliberation, they killed Fincher, his Wife, and two Sons, the Daughter ſaid to be miſſing; but as ſhe was heard ſcreaming by ſome of the Neighbours, and crying Murder, it is feared ſhe is likewiſe killed: That a little Boy made his Eſcape from the Savages, and came to the Enſign, who immediately went to the Place with his Party, but the Indians were gone, and finding, by their Tracks, which Way they went, purſued them to the Houſe of one Nicholas Miller, where he found four Children murdered, the Enemy having carried off two others with them; but that ſaid Miller, and his Wife, being at Work in a Field, ſaved their Lives by Flight, the Man being purſued near a Mile by one of the Indians, who fired at him twice: That our Party ſtill purſued, and ſoon came up with the Enemy, and fired on them, which they returned; but the Soldiers ruſhed on them ſo furiouſly, that they quickly ran off, and left behind them two Priſoners, two Tomahawks, one Hanger, and a Saddle; three of their Number being badly wounded: That the two Priſoners recovered, were two of the above-mentioned Miller's Children, which they had tied together, and drove them before them: That the Perſons murdered were all ſcalped, except a Child about two Weeks old, which they, in the moſt cruel Manner, daſhed to Pieces againſt the Wall: That the Number killed over the Mountains was eight, and two miſſing: And that the Inhabitants had all come on this Side, and were in the utmoſt Diſtreſs.

" That as the Expreſs was ſetting off from Reading, certain Information was brought there, that the Houſe of Frantz Hubler, in Bern Townſhip, about 18 Miles from Reading, was attacked, on Friday Evening laſt, by the Indians, when Frantz himſelf was wounded; his Wife, and three Children, carried off; and three others of his Children ſcalped alive, two of whom are ſince dead."

Since our laſt arrived here an Expreſs from Fort Bedford, which he left the Seventh Inſtant. By him there is Advice, that all was well at Pittſburgh: That Capt. Hay, with the Convoy from Ligonier, had got ſafe there: That there had been no Diſturbance from the Indians in that Quarter, ſince Colonel BOUQUET's Victory over them: And that every thing was likewiſe very quiet in Cumberland County, where there ſeemed to be a noble Spirit, many brave Men being ready to go out in the Service of their King and Country, if properly encouraged.

Extract of a Letter from Fort Cumberland, September 5.

" One Henry Adams informs me, that he was Yeſterday at John Forman's Fort, about 30 Miles from this Place, on the South Branch, when an Expreſs arrived there from Fort Pleaſant, who informed, that Capt. Luke Collins, with ſome Men, had followed a Party of Indians to Cheat River, one of the main Branches of the Monongahela, where he overtook them, and killed ſix of their Number; took 11 Guns, 14 Shot Pouches, ſeveral Horſes, and a large Quantity of other Plunder, to the Amount of One Hundred Pounds, or more, excluſive of the Horſes: He alſo releaſed a Son of Capt. John Walton's from the Enemy. It is remarkable, that not one of the Guns taken from the Indians was loaded, and, when attacked, they were barbecuing a Buffaloe, not thinking of Danger. It appears that their Party did not conſiſt of above Eleven, ſome of the Shot Pouches being taken from the Inhabitants."

On Sunday laſt the Ship Charming Nancy, Captain Winter, arrived here from London, in ſeven Weeks Paſſage. The Captains Friend and Simblet had both ſailed for this Place before him.

The James and Mary, Captain Sparks, is arrived in London from this Port.

The Reverend Mr. GEORGE WHITEFIELD writes to a Gentleman here, from Urbana, in Virginia, dated Auguſt 26, That he was then juſt arrived there, after a tedious Paſſage of twelve Weeks, in a poor State of Health; and that he deſigned to ſet out for this Place in a few Days.

To the PRINTERS of the PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

WHEREAS a Report has been ſpread, that the Chriſtian Indians in New-Jerſey, under my Care, were many of them gone back to join the murdering Indians on the Frontiers; this is to inform and aſſure the Publick, that ſuch Report is altogether without Foundation; that theſe Indians evidently diſcover a great Abhorrence of the perfidious and inhuman Proceedings of their remote ſavage Brethren; and that there is not one of them miſſing, or that diſcovers a contrary Temper.

ACK, for the Year SIXTY-F UR.

Paris, June 27. His Majeſty's equeſtrian ſtatue was opened on the 20th, amidſt the acclamations of an innumerable crowd, among whom the Governor of Paris threw a large ſum of money on this occaſion. In the evening the whole ſquare was illuminated. At the four corners of it were placed four fountains of wine, which was given, together with bread and meat, to the populace, who danced all night to the muſick placed in orcheſtras erected at each fountain.

The Univerſity of Paris, to expreſs their zeal on the concluſion of the peace, made an extraordinary and ſolemn proceſſion on the 23d, from the church of the Mathurins, to the church of St. Roch, where Te Deum was ſung, the Archbiſhop of Paris officiating in his pontificalia.

Vienna, June 22. There is ſhewn in this city one Bernard Gilli, a native of Riva, in the county of Trent, aged 27, who is full eight feet high.

Ratiſbon, June 23. A village named Vohenſtraus, 6 miles from Sultſbach, which had been already burnt down four times, and ſince the laſt rebuilt in a moſt beautiful manner, has lately been deſtroyed by fire a fifth time. On the 9th of June, in the afternoon, a fire broke out in the market place, which, by the violence of the wind, in leſs than half an hour ſet fire to the whole market, whereby 152 dwelling houſes, 101 barns, the church, ſteeple, and bells, the town-houſe, with the records, the proteſtant and romiſh places of public worſhip, together with all their effects and libraries, and all the ſchools, were reduced to aſhes, and but few ſmall habitations left ſtanding. The inhabitants ſaved little or nothing of their effects, moſt of them having enough to do to ſave their lives; and their diſtreſs is very great, having neither cloaths, money, nor bread. Some perſons were unfortunately burnt, and many greatly hurt. Some waggon loads of bread have been ſent by the Magiſtrates of Wieden to the relief of theſe unfortunate perſons.

Maeſtricht, June 27. We hear that the Empreſs Queen has been adviſed to make Ruremonde, which lies on the Meuſe, in the upper Quarter of Gueldres, a regular fortreſs.

LONDON, June 30.

Tueſday the perſons who are proprietors of one of the 10,000l. prizes, and are eight in number, belonging to a ſociety at Cambridge, arrived at that town with favours in their hats, a band of muſic before them, colours and drums, with 15 poſt-chariots, in which were their friends, &c. They entered the town two and two in grand proceſſion; and on Friday night they gave a ball at the Three Ton tavern; at which time the Conduit was illuminated.

We hear that a ſociety is going to be formed for carrying on the fiſh trade, who are to begin by admitting 1000 ſubſcribers, at five guineas each, as a capital to begin with, and to divide the profits, or make calls in the ſame manner as ſome of the trading companies carry on their trade.

GUADALOUPE.

By his Excellency Monſieur De Bourlamaqui, Governor-General of Guadeloupe, and its Dependencies; and by Monſieur Le Preſident, De Peinier, Intendant of the ſaid Iſland and its Dependencies.

HAVING conſidered on the Neceſſity of putting a Stop to illicit Trade, which becomes more frequent every Day, and leſs difficult, on Account of the Liberty granted to Foreign Veſſels to come to Load with Melaſſes, and bring to this Colony ſuch Goods and Merchandizes as are permitted by the King's Order of the 18th of April, 1763: We have not found any Method more Effectual for that Purpoſe, than the eſtabliſhing a Rule, by which no Foreign Veſſel ſhall come upon the Coaſts of this Colony, without being furniſhed with a Permiſſion, in Writing, by the Intendant; without which they ſhall be regarded as Acting in Contempt of the Law, and be liable to Confiſcation; for theſe Reaſons, and to put a Stop to an Abuſe, ſo very eſſential to prevent, we have determined to iſſue out an Order, and for which Purpoſe we have decreed and directed, hereby Ordering and Directing, viz.

ACT I.

That no foreign Veſſel ſhall be permitted into this Colony; neither ſhall they be permitted to navigate nearer to any of the Coaſts, than at the Diſtance of one League; nor any Boat ſent on Shore from them, unleſs furniſhed with the Permiſſion of the Intendant of the Colony, in Writing; in which ſhall be ſpecified, the Nature and Quality of the Effects which the Veſſel is loaded with, agreeable to thoſe which the King permits Foreigners to import into his Colonies.

ACT II.

ACT III.

All Veſſels anchored in either of the above Ports, cannot go from one to the other, but muſt take in their Loading at that Port they firſt came to anchor.

ACT IV.

The Permiſſions will be delivered by the Intendant, to ſuch French Merchants as he ſhall think proper, who are to ſend them over to foreign Ports and Colonies; and they ſhall anſwer in their own Name, that there ſhall be nothing on Board the ſaid foreign Veſſels, than what they have Permiſſion for; and that they lade nothing on Board the ſaid Veſſels, but Melaſſes and Rum.

ACT V.

All Captains of foreign Veſſels ſhall be obliged, on their Arrival, to go to the Cuſtom-Houſe, ſhew their Permiſſion, and make their Report: They ſhall apply to the Director to ſend a Waiter on Board, to be preſent at the Diſcharging their Veſſel; they ſhall alſo be obliged to Call in a Waiter of the Cuſtom-Houſe, to viſit every Tier of Caſks which they ſhall lade; who is to examine what they contain, as well as the Number of Caſks for which Duty is to be paid; who ſhall alſo take Care to prevent any Produce to be ſhipped but Melaſſes and Rum.

ACT VI.

We ſtrictly forbid all Captains of foreign Veſſels, as well as the Merchants, (to whom Permiſſion may have been granted) to treſpaſs this Ordinance, under the Penalties of Confiſcation of Veſſel and Cargo, 3000 Livers, and one Year's Impriſonment for the Merchants who ſhall have had the Permiſſion, who ſhall be alſo ſubject to greater Penalties, if proved to have connived at the Fraud.

ACT VII.

We ſtrictly charge and direct all thoſe who ſhall command any of the Cuſtom-Houſe Sloops, and Garde des Cotes, to ſee due Execution had to this our Ordinance; and to cauſe all foreign Veſſels to ſhew their Permiſſion, ſign'd by the Intendant; in Default of which, (after the firſt Day of November next) all foreign Veſſels that ſhall be found within the Diſtance of one League of the Coaſts of this Government, ſhall be ſeized, in Order to be confiſcated according to the King's Ordinance. Strictly commanding all Directors of the King's Cuſtom, to ſend Clerks on Board all the ſaid foreign Veſſels as ſoon as they ſhall come to Anchor, and to make the ſtricteſt Search on Board.

ACT VIII.

This Ordinance ſhall be regiſtred in the Admiralty Court, and at the Kings Cuſtom-Houſe, and ſhall be read, publiſhed, and fixed upon every Place where it ſhall be thought neceſſary by the King's Attorney of the Admiralty. Given at Baſſaterre, Guadaloupe, under the Seals of our Arms and Counter; ſign'd by our Secretaries, the 18th of Auguſt 1763.

CHARLES-TOWN, in South-Carolina.

Auguſt 20. Our laſt letters from England ſay, that the Britiſh miniſtry were very intent on a plan for the diviſion and government of the new acquiſitions in America, and had, in the mean time, ordered an experienced engineer, with ſome other officers, to proceed immediately, in his Majeſty's ſhip the Glaſgow, to Penſacola, to lay out a town and proper fortifications there, it being determined to render that port as ſtrong as art can make it, to which end alſo ſome peculiar privileges will be granted to new ſettlers, &c.

The Cherokees ſay, they have loſt 58 of their people ſince May laſt, by the incurſions of the Northern Indians into their country; and the whole nation ſeems to be ſeized with a moſt terrible panic from theſe hoſtilities being directed againſt them. The famous Mortar, of Oakchoy, the leading man of the late French party among the Creeks, has been obliged too, by theſe incurſions, to break up his ſettlement on Cooſah-River.

By this gentleman, we hear, his Majeſty's orders are come to diſband the independent companies, when they are relieved by other troops, but not before; and his Excellency is authorized to pay the paſſages to Europe, of the officers, non-commiſſioned officers, and private men, that came from thence.

Orders are likewiſe received by the Governor, to eſtabliſh, in concert with the Governor of North Carolina, a temporary line of juriſdiction between the two provinces, which is to begin at the 35th degree of latitude. The old line, if not already compleated, we hear, is ordered to be perfected; is to run to the eaſtward of the Catawba claims, and all forts (let them be where they will) are to be in that province by which they were built and ſupported.

PERTH-AMBOY, September 17, 1763.

Yeſterday our late worthy Governor JOSIAH HARDY, Eſq; went from hence with his Family to New-York, in order to embark from thence on board of the Halifax Packet, for England: He was attended to the Water Side by all the Gentlemen of the Place, who took this laſt Opportunity of teſtifying their Regard, and repeating their Wiſhes for his future Happineſs. His Behaviour in private Life, ſince the Arrival of Governor Franklin, has been ſuch as to merit the Love and Eſteem of all near him, who ſeem juſtly ſenſible of the Loſs of ſo good a Man, and ſo kind a Neighbour. The Sentiments of this Corporation, with reſpect to his Adminiſtration, will beſt appear from their Addreſs to him: The Sincerity and Truth of which there is little Room to ſuſpect. As I don't remember to have ſeen this Addreſs in any of the Papers, your inſerting it in your next, will oblige

A Friend to all good Governors.

To his Excellency JOSIAH HARDY, Eſq; Captain General, Governor, and Commander in Cheif in an over the Province of New-Jerſey,

The humble ADDRESS of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen and Common Council of the City of Perth-Amboy.

May it pleaſe your Excellency,

WE the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen and Common Council of the City of Perth-Amboy, wait on your Excellency, to teſtify our Concern upon your Removal from this his Majeſty's Government of New Jerſey.

Although your Continuance among us has been but ſhort, yet you have given ſuch Inſtances of your Love of Juſtice, and Moderation, your Attachment to the Conſtitution of your Country, and juſt Regard for the Intereſts and Rights of the People of this Province, committed to your Care, that our Breaſts are filled with due Eſteem for your Excellency's Merits and Goodneſs; and with unfeigned Sorrow for your Removal from this Government, we return your Excellency our Thanks for the Countenance and Favour you have ſhewn this Corporation; and we take this Opportunity of making our grateful Acknowledgments. And as your Reſidence among us can be now no longer expected, permit us, with due Regard, to wiſh your Excellency and Family, Every Happineſs you can hope or deſire; and that others may be as ſenſible of your Excellency's Merits, as the People whom you now leave.

Perth-Amboy, SAMUEL NEVILL, Mayor.
Feb. 17, 1763.

To the Mayor, &c. of the City of Perth Amboy.

GENTLEMEN,

I Am extremely obliged to you for the kind Concern you expreſs on my Removal from this Government; and it gives me a particular Satisfaction to have merited your Eſteem. You may be aſſured I ſhall ever retain a grateful Remembrance of the many Civilities I have received from this Corporation.

JOSIAH HARDY.

BOSTON, September 15.

We hear that the Heirs of Thomas Green, Eſq; lately deceaſed, in Compliance with a Deſign he had often mentioned in his Time of Health, and repeated on his Death Bed, have generouſly offered the Sum of 500l. Sterl. to Trinity Church in this Town, to be a Fund (together with ſuch Addition as could be obtained) for the perpetual Maintenance of an Aſſiſtant Miniſter to the Epiſcopal Churches in and about Boſton, eſpecially to Trinity Church (to which the Deceaſed and his Heirs more particularly belong) when they may be by any Means vacant: And accordingly ſaid Church have already made a conſiderable Subſcription, and expect in a ſhort Time to compleat an equal Sum to that Donation, the Intereſt of the whole to be applied to the ſaid Uſe. So that by the worthy Deſign of the ſaid Deceaſed, with the Concurrence of the generous Heirs and Subſcribers, the Epiſcopal Churches in theſe Parts will ſoon have a Supply in Time of Need, that has hitherto been greatly wanted.

By a Veſſel from Halifax we are informed, That a conſiderable Number of Indians had aſſembled together in Nova Scotia, but with what Deſign we have not yet learned.

We hear, that about a Month ago, a Sloop bound from Halifax to Annapolis Royal with Stores, was caſt away on a Ledge in Meeche's Bay, the Sloop and Cargo entirely loſt, and two Paſſengers drowned.

NEW-YORK, September 26.

We hear that one of our Veſſels on Lake Erie, was lately caſt away on her Voyage from Niagara to Detroit, loaded with Proviſions.

We are credibly informed, that the Merchants of this City expect, in a few Weeks, from Ireland, about 6000 Firkins of the beſt Iriſh Butter; on the Arrival of which 'tis not impoſſible the Country People, who uſed to ſupply our Markets, may be obliged to purchaſe large Quantities of Salt.

PHILADELPHIA, September 29.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Wilmington, North-Carolina.

"It is with infinite Regret I inform you that he, whom I eſteemed one of the worthieſt of Friends (Mr. THOMAS GODFREY, of your Place) is no more. Thurſday, 25th July, he and myſelf ſet out on a ſmall Journey into the Country; the Day being very warm, and he not much uſed to riding, I imagine over-heated him, for the ſucceeding Night he was ſeized with a moſt violent Fever and Vomiting, which deſperately increaſing, in ſeven Days hurried him out of this mortal Life."

"The ingenious, though unfortunate, young Gentleman, here ſpoken of (Son of the famous THOMAS GODFREY, Mathematician of this Place) who is ſincerely lamented by all Lovers of the Belles Letters, bid likely to be a very permanent Honour to our City. The ſeveral poetical Pieces that were publiſhed here of his compoſing, perfectly amazed the Republic of Letters. His ſhining Talents were ſuch that (if Providence had ſeen fit to lengthen his Days) it is paſt Diſpute he would have been one of the firſt Sons of the Muſes on this Side of the Atlantic. His Manners and Behaviour in private Life endeared him to all his Aſſociates; his Innocence, Integrity, and laudable Thirſt for Knowledge, produced him the Eſteem and Affection of all who knew him, and his Writings, whether ſeen in Europe or America, gained him Admirers. The Pieces he has left behind, which conſiſt of ſeveral occaſional Poems, and a Tragedy, called "THE PRINCE OF PARTHIA," which has received his laſt Touches (and breathes all the Pathos of Otway) will be laſting Monuments of his literary Excellency. It is thought this Collection will make a handſome Octavo Volume, and the Public will be favoured with it as ſoon as thoſe Pieces which remain in Carolina can be tranſmitted here."

Extract of a Letter from Carliſle, September 20, 1763.

"Of late we have had no Diſturbance on this Frontier from our ſavage Neighbours; which is, by no Means, I apprehend, to be accounted for from any Change in their Diſpoſitions, but from their Time being taken up in removing their Families, and putting themſelves into a better Situation to accompliſh their bloody Deſigns.---I was laſt Week through the upper End of this County, where the People are, at preſent, following their Labour as uſual, and will, unleſs prevented by freſh Troubles, have in a large Fall Crop.---A conſiderable Number of the Inhabitants of both Coves were then gone home, and deſigned to put in ſome Grain, for the future Support of their Families. Many of the Inhabitants had likewiſe returned to the Canalloways, but, on freſh Alarms from the Virginia Frontier, were, as I was informed, come back to Fort Frederick.---Through all the late Scene of Troubles, one Man, and his Wife, kept their Place in the Little Cove, though entirely by themſelves.

"While I was up there, we had ſeveral Reports from Virginia, to know the Certainty of which, I ſent to a Gentleman of Note near Potowmack, who was gone from Home; but his Wife informed the Meſſenger, that her Huſband had received Letters from Virginia, adviſing, that ſome Time of the Week before laſt, a large Party of Indians came down on the Frontier of Auguſta County, deſigning, as was ſuppoſed, to ſtrike a ſmall Town there; but being diſcovered by ſome Men, who were out hunting Horſes, the Inhabitants were alarmed of their Approach, and turned out, in a large Body, to meet them, which they accordingly did, and an obſtinate Engagement enſued; wherein, though the White People loſt a conſiderable Number, yet they kept the Field, and brought off with them 15 Indian Scalps, and a conſiderable Quantity of Plunder.

"The Meſſenger was alſo informed, that a Party of the Virginia Rangers having, the ſame Week, come on ſome Tracts of Indians going out from the Inhabitants, followed them till Evening; when, ſending ſome of their Party to the Top of a Hill, they diſcovered the Indian Fire, and made towards it: And that as they went along, they heard the Enemy fire 15 Guns, which they ſuppoſed was the Party emptying their Pieces, as the Day had been wet, in order to clean them; upon which they haſted up, and immediately fired on the Savages, as they ſat round the Fire, and killed three of them; the reſt fled, leaving behind 13 Guns, and a Number of Moccaſons.

"I was alſo informed, that on Thurſday Night, the 8th Inſtant, a large Party of Indians were diſcovered dancing round their Fire on Patterſon's Creek, which empties into the South Branch of Potowmack; but that the Perſons who ſaw them, being but three or four, did not diſcover themſelves, but went and alarmed the Neighbourhood.

"It is certain that they have had on that Frontier frequent Alarms, and ſeveral Skirmiſhes with the Indians, in which the White People always beat the Enemy---And it is worth remarking, that ſince this War broke out, there has not been one Engagement in which the Indians got the better of our People, on any Part of the Frontier, that I can recollect.

"On Tueſday, the 13th Inſtant, a ſmall Party of Indians were chaced, in the Little Cove, by a Party of the Maryland Scouts--- The Inhabitants of Path Valley, and a Number of Shearman's will, I expect, have in Crops ſufficient for next Year's Support, if no new Troubles come upon us, and a Guard be continued; but ranging Parties, and a Reward for Scalps, are the Means which, under GOD, would moſt likely anſwer the End."

The Reverend Mr. WHITEFIELD has been in ſuch a poor State of Health ſince he arrived here, that as yet he has been able to preach only once; and that was on Sunday laſt, in Chriſt-Church, to a moſt crowded Auditory.

On the 22d Inſtant, the Number of Sea Veſſels in this Port was as follows, viz.
